LISA FENECH is an Associate at Ruskin Moscou Faltishek, P.C., where she is a member of the firm's Trusts and Estates Department and Estate Litigation Practice Group.

Lisa received her Juris Doctor from the Maurice A. Deane School of Law at Hofstra University. During law school, Lisa was the Editor-in-Chief of Family Court Review and an active member of the Moot Court Honors Board. Her note was published in the January 2018 edition of the Family Court Review, discussing the implications of the field of unregulated gene modifications. She represented Hofstra Law School in national Moot Court competitions, and continues to support the program as a judge for the Hofstra Moot Court competitions.

During her last two years in law school, Lisa worked for Corporation Counsel for the City of Long Beach under their student practice order. She worked as the City Prosecutor for traffic court, pleading traffic tickets, zoning violations and prosecuting traffic trials on the record. The City created this position for Lisa to aid Assistant Corporation Counsel with their heavy workload. Her work led to the City creating a permanent position for a part-time City Prosecutor as part of the Corporation Counsel's office.

Upon graduation, Lisa received The William Eric Goldberg Endowed Memorial Scholarship, which is awarded to a graduate who has provided significant support and leadership in improving the quality of life and educational experience for others.

Lisa is admitted to practice in New York.
